THE SOUTH KENTUCKIAN.

VOLUME IV.

For the SOUTH KENTUCKIAN.

AUTUMN.

(Dedicated to my friend, Mrs. Nellie O.
Lester, of Lafayette, Ky.)

Days are passing, ah, so fair!

Rich and glory-gifted!

Nature gives her wealth to share—

Soul, be thine uplifted.

See as it but turned to flame,

Yonder windows glowing!

Sight so like the fiery arms,

Crad' from world's bestowing.

Burning, gleaming everywhere,

Triple in its splendor;

All too grand for o'er a tear,

Or a smile so tender.

Yet we crown the autumn "green,"

Love her royal ways!

Brighter skies are never seen,

Or more perfect days.

MAILLIE V. DUDLEY.

NUMBER 4.

AT Prouse's store we had a very small crowd, perhaps half of whom were ladies. Winifred made a very fine effort, and closed by throwing out some elegant poetry; some as fine strains fell from his lips as ever

emanated from mortal man. In truth, for about five minutes, there was a rose bud trembling on every word he uttered. Judge Long replied by saying he was neither a poet nor the son of a poet; but he had no poetical genius; that the only genius he ever had in his life was that of a

"Jay bird" song an' mornin' sweet.

Then he said, "I'm a poet, because his mouth is more sharper."

This was such a good take off that

Judge Winifred never again dared to invade the sacred realms of poetry; some as fine strains fell from his lips as ever

emanated from mortal man. In truth,

HOPKINSVILLE, OCT. 17, 1882.

FOR CONGRESS,
JAMES. F. CLAY,
OF HENDERSON.(First District)
JOHN R. GRACE, OF TRIGG.

FOR CONGRESS.

Dr. Wm. M. Freque, of Christiania, is a candidate for Congress in opposition to Mr. Clay in the Second District, subject to the action of the people at the polls. Election November 7th, 1882.

ATTORNEY GENERAL.

Wilbur F. Browder, of Logan, Co., is a candidate for Attorney General, subject to the action of the Democratic State Convention. Election in August, 1883.

The comet cannot be captured by putting salt on its tail.

The early bird catches the worm, and the early riser sees the comet.

Brother Barnes says he will never return to Kentucky.

Judge Grace drove an ox wagon in his boyhood. Now he is driving Os-car.

The public debt was reduced $17,000,000 during the month of September.

No child, it was not the tail of the comet that swept Ohio. It was the Democratic party.

The McLean County Fair begins tomorrow and will continue throughout the week.

The Christian County A. & M. Association made money this year for the first time in a number of years.

Hon. Frank James has tendered his resignation to the Governor of Missouri and it has been accepted.

It is rumored that an election of some kind was held in Ohio last Tuesday. Have any of our Republican friends heard of it?

The Owensboro Messenger came in Friday with its inside bottom up-wards, but as it was Fair week its editors are excusable.

Dr. W. M. Fuqua is now actively engaged canvassing the District in his race for Congress. He was in the river counties last week.

In the Louvville Commercial's Congressional ticket, kept standing at its mast head, there is no such name as Jno. D. White.

Trig county was one of Turner's strongholds, and gave him 722 majority in his last race. Grace will carry the county by 1000 or 1500 majority.

Bilkins says the difference between him and his girl and the comet is that in one case two propose to become one and in the other one has become two.

Let Turner get the votes of Independents and non-descriptives, but let Democrats stand to their colors and vote for Judge Grace, the nominee of their party.

Mr. Tom L. Cannon, of the Henderson State Sentinel has purchased the interest of his partner, Mr. Walter M. Young, and is now sole proprietor of that flourishing paper.

The Galloway News is doing more effective work for Grace than any other paper in the First District. The News was the first paper to suggest Judge Grace as the man to lick Turner.

Hon. Jas. F. Clay the Democratic candidate for Congress in this district has not yet begun the canvas of the district. He will arrange a list of appointments shortly and will make two speeches in this county.

Wm. Austin was hung at Lancaster Friday for the murder of his great aunt, Betsy Bland. He confessed at the last moment, saying that whisky was the cause of his crime. He was 25 years old.

The prize banner offered to the best drilled company of Knights, by the Owensboro K. of P. Lodge, was awarded to Ivy Lodge No. 21, Henderson, at the Owensboro Fair, last Wednesday.

The first number of the Gazette, published at Kuttawa, Lyon county, is welcomed to our exchange table this week. E. W. Crumbaugh and Sydney S. Scott are the editors. The paper will be neutral in politics but will lean towards Democracy.

From all over the First District comes the most encouraging news for the Democrats. Grace is arousing more enthusiasm in the party than any man in the district could do. Turner is going to be defeated by an overwhelming majority.

It is said to the credit of the Mayfield Democrat that it is maintaining a strict neutrality in the present race. It has been Turner's organ and it was expected that it would espouse the cause of the "Old Outlaw" and oppose the Democratic nominee. So far as we have seen not a paper in the district is working for Turner.

A Tidal Wave

Annie Dickinson has written to the Omaha Herald that she no longer advocates female suffrage.

The Hickman Courier, another of Turner's organs, has come out square after cage of grand display, including cage of wild beasts exposed to public gaze, all new and brilliant in gory scenes alterings of the painter's art. The musical steam orchestra, rendering popular tunes along the route, attracted universal attention. This is the largest steam musical instrument in the world, and in itself is worth going miles to see and hear. One of the most beautiful features of the great parade was the oriental pageant representing the departure of Lata Rook from Delhi the princess being personated by the famous $10,000 prize beauty, Miss Louise Montague. The tableau vivant representing Cleopatra, Queen of Egypt, going to meet Mark Antony, was one of the prettiest, and at the same time grand and costly spectacles displays ever presented to the public eye. And so old genuine plantation darkies, all of whom were formerly slaves, appeared in this carnival street display, dressed in a facsimile representation of a Southern mule team, which was filled with cotton bales. These dusky melodists sang the familiar songs of slavery, and the quaint hymns of the negro camp-meetings and merrymakings in a charmingly realistic manner. There was Nero's Leonine Charlot, drawn by ten Asiatic, African and Ceylon elephants, upon the canopy of which stands a living lion loose in the street, roaring, glaring and shaking his shaggy mane at the spectators while composedly sits by his side the youthful, beautiful and fearless female conqueror of this "king of beasts," with a keen, shining sword drawn and held over the monster's head. Taking it all in all, this is the most imposing, electrifying and gorgeous display ever seen on our streets. This grand spectacular parade will start from the exhibition lot at 11:30 a.m.

The girls are beginning to wear the streaked, striped and spotted hats that have been having such a run with the boys this fall.

Yellow fever is spreading in Texas and Florida and the people are appealing for aid. At New Orleans there have been 1,087 cases and 120 deaths.

The Bate boom in Tennessee still continues. Prominent men are leaving the Fussell ranks every day and coming out for Bate, and victory for the regular Democracy is almost certain.

Our Democratic Cook Once More Gets a Chance to Grow.

WEST VIRGINIA STILL DEMOCRATIC.

The comet cannot be captured by putting salt on its tail.

The Democrats achieved a signal victory in the Ohio election last Tuesday. They swept the State by 17,000 majority, electing the whole ticket, consisting of Secretary of State, Supreme Court Judge and Member of Board of Public Works, and elected 12 of the 21 Congressmen; three of the Republicans elected only got in by majorities of from 8 to 40 votes. It was almost a clean sweep and the result has aroused the greatest enthusiasm in the party in the district who could fill his seat, in a physical sense. By the way, Col. Yost would not be a bad man for the place.

SOCIALITIES.

Miss Lillie Waller paid a visit to Pembroke Saturday.

Mr. G. T. McCain, of Cadiz, was in the city Sunday.

Miss McRae Griner, of Cadiz, returned home yesterday.

Miss Minnie Lander spent Saturday and Sunday at Dawson.

Mr. E. R. Cook, Jr., until recently with Mr. Gregory, has accepted a position in the furnishing house of Jas. P. & Co.

Messrs. Jno. C. Day, H. A. Phelps, Jr. E. A. Pike, St. Clair Leavell and F. H. Campbell attended the Owensboro Fair last week.

Messrs. G. A. Talley, D. S. Dickenson, W. J. Chiles and Cross Wood, of Trenton, came down to the show Saturday night.

Mr. Thomas Jones, of Newburgh, Ind., has accepted a position in Rabote & Brownell's flour mills. They say Mr. Jones is a first-class miller.

Dr. Jno. H. Twyman, who went from this place to Lake City, Florida, two years ago to practice dentistry, returned home last week after a short visit to his parents here.

Messrs. H. H. Abernathy, Bryan Hopper, A. D. Rodgers, Jas. O. Cooper, H. H. Bourne and Chas. M. Meacham, were the Hopkinsville Knights who visited Owensboro last week.

Mrs. Annie M. Barnes, editor and proprietor of the Acanthus, published at Atlanta, Ga., spent last week in the city soliciting subscribers. She was very successful, securing over fifty names. She left for Trenton and Elkhorn yesterday.

Dr. S. H. Singleton, Supreme Medical Examiner of the Junior Order of Mutual Friends was in the city to-day, and informed us that the policy on the life of Mr. Ben Leavelle, deceased, who was a member of the order, will be paid in a few days.

K. of P. Grand Lodge.

The annual session of the Grand Lodge Knights of Pythias of Kentucky met at Owensboro on the 10th inst. The attendance was unusually small and no business of much importance was transacted. The officers chosen for the ensuing year were as follows:

Pat Grand Chancellor, J. D. Powers, Owensboro; Grand Chancellor, A. J. Lovelock, Paris; Vice Grand Chancellor, D. O. Wilkins, Carrollton; Grand Prelate, Phil. E. Zuken, Owensboro; Grand Keeper of Records and Seal, C. F. Minott; Louisville; Grand Inner Guard, G. C. Colton, Ludlow; Grand Outer Guard, W. C. Quincy, Dayton. The reception given by Star Lodge No. 19, of Owensboro, to the visiting Knights was one long to be remembered. The whole city was decorated with flags, even the trains and hacks having the K. of P. emblem and stars and stripes floating from them. The banquet given Wednesday night was intended to eclipse anything of the kind ever given in Kentucky. It was gotten up grandly, and the large dining hall was decorated with flowers and flags arranged by the ladies of Owensboro. The hall was a very brilliant affair and was a success in every particular. The parades alone fell short of public expectation, as the attendance was not as large as it should have been.

Telephone Connection.

The telephone line has been completed between Clarksville and Nashville, and Hopkinsville is now connected with those cities and various towns in Tennessee. A permanent arrangement has been made whereby the exchange here will be connected with the Cumberland Co.'s line and it will soon be joined to Madisonville when we will also be connected with Evansville, Henderson, Owensboro and other cities north.

The prices will be fixed at from 15 to 20 cents, according to the distance. The price of five minutes talk to Nashville is 35 cents. The connection was first made last Tuesday, the 10th inst.

Married.

Orr-JAMES.—At the residence of the bride's father, Princeton, Ky., Tuesday, Oct. 10th, 1882, Mr. Jno. G. Orr, to Miss Willie A. James, both of Princeton. After the ceremony the bridal couple immediately left on a tour to Louisville, Cincinnati and other cities. Mr. Orr is one of the most estimable and popular young gentlemen of Oldfield county, while his bride is a young lady of rare beauty and accomplishments; she is a daughter of Mr. W. A. James, a prominent merchant of Princeton. Miss James will be pleasantly remembered by the members of the W. K. P. A. who attended the meeting there last May. The young couple have our earnest wishes for future happiness.

The colored Methodist Episcopal Conference of this district met in this city last week.

Mrs. Barbara Overhiser died at the residence of Mrs. Martha White, in this city, on the 10th inst. She was in her 83rd year and was the oldest citizen of Hopkinsville. She was a native of Ireland and was a most excellent christian lady, loved and respected by a large circle of friends. She was the mother of Messrs. A. G. & John Oyerisher of this city, and the grandmother of Mr. C. D. Overhiser, foreman of the South Kentuckian composing room.

Thatcher Primrose & West's negro Minstrels exhibited at Holland's Opera House Saturday night and their entertainment was one of the best of its kind that has been here for years. There were several new features, notably the telephone, the gladiators and the tumbler. The stump speeches were new and laughable and some of the girls were first class. The whole performance was laughable and interesting, and was highly enjoyed by all. The house was about half filled below at one dollar, while the gallery was packed at fifty cents a seat.

Mr. M. W. Grissam has bought the lot on Virginia street owned by the Episcopcal church and a lot has been purchased on Court street opposite Mr. M. Schmitz's, and a new church will be built. The price paid by Mr. Grissam for the whole square containing the church and parsonage, was $3,500 and the price paid for the new site was $1200. The prices were both very low considering the locations of the lots. Steps are now being taken to begin the erection of the new building at an early date.

Conference.

The Col. M. E. Conference convened in this city Wednesday, Oct. 11, at 9 o'clock, with Bishop W. H. Miles, Presiding Elder, J. W. Bell, was elected Secy. The roll was called and only a few were absent, which showed that the Conference would be in point of attendance all that could have been expected. Services were conducted at the col. church each night during the session, and much interest was manifested, as there had come together in one grand body, such men as are publicly known to be laboring zealously for the advancement of the cause in every respect. Among the most noted is the venerable Keas, Koger and Healy. Bishop Lane of Jackson, Tenn.; Dr. C. H. Phillips and Rev. I. Mitchell, of Clarksville, Tenn., visited the Conference also G. W. Stewart, a missionary enroute to the Indian Territory, spent several days assisting in the labors of the Conference. Sunday, the 15th, an immense crowd thronged the various churches to listen to the distinguished ministers according to appointments. Meeting was also held at the Court House and was also held at the White Methodist church. The Conference adjourned Monday night, after a pleasant and instructive session.

A Kentuckian Killed.

Mr. Israel Landes, of Stockton, California, was accidentally killed at his home on Saturday, Oct. 14th. The particulars are learned from a California paper. His windmill, which was used to irrigate his farm, was out of fix and he told his hired man to mount a twenty-four foot ladder and repair it. The position was a perilous one and the man refused to take the chances. Mr. Landes then went up himself but on reaching the top he appeared to have been seized with a sudden dizziness and fell to the ground, breaking his skull and causing instant death. Deceased was in his 78th year and leaves a wife 70 years old. He leaves four grown sons who live in California. He went from this country to that State in 1849. He has many relatives and friends in this section. He made a visit here about a year ago and was a Hale and hearty old gentleman. He was wealthy and had just completed a new dwelling house to spend his last days in.

IN MEMORIAM.

Death, in all of its sad realities is always appalling—blasting hopes—severing bonds which connect loving hearts, and spreading gloom over devoted families. This was especially illustrated in the death of Beanie Leavelle, who died September the 29th, of typhoid fever in the 18th year of his age. The idol of his father, and devotedly loved by his friends and associates, his untimely and is deeply deplored. And his short career will be pleasantly recollect by all who knew him. From his early childhood his disposition was gentle and kind toward his sisters, and obedient and respectful to his parents. With more than ordinary sprightliness and by his close application to business, he was just entering upon a career of usefulness, of much promise. Cut off in the bloom of youth from a bright future, and from those who loved him, he leaves us with the consoling reflection that he was a consistent member of the Baptist church, living in full accord with the teachings of him who "doeth all things well." His gentle, lamb-like life gives us confidence in the motto of his casket, and we know that he is at rest."

EXCHANGE SCINTILLATIONS.

It is frequently hinted right under our nose that the Democratic party is in need of a greater leader for the next national campaign. We see the point, but, really, we have no Presidential qualifications whatever—[Constitutionalist.]

To whom do we appeal when our beloved is led with throb and when the paths of life give us pain?" exclaims Mr. Talmage in a burst of enthusiastic inquiry. To the dentist and corn doctor old gentleman.—[Arkansas Traveler.]

We heard a young lady remark the other day that nothing made her so mad as to be kissed by a school-boy. Of course it is an insult to any young young lady to be kissed by a boy before he is old enough to support a mustache, and for such impudent acts the little rascal ought to be well spanked.—[Ky. Democrat.]

Some people are possessed of a natural aptitude for hazard," said Mr. Talmage during a sermon last Sunday. Hazard may be a good game for the house, but it is bad species of "tiger" for the visitor. Roar, or even the wheel, is better than hazard, Mr. Talmage, but of course you have a right to put your money where you please.—[Arkansas Traveler.]

There is a church in Michigan that has been struck by lightning a dozen times, and now, when the preacher gets long winded, the organist slyly imitates the sound of distant thunder on his instrument, and the way that preacher dashes into the "conclusion" and winds up his sermon is a caution. The congregation wouldn't part with that organist for a million dollars. So says an irreligious exchange.—Sunday Argus.

Plantation Philosophy.

The eel is the politician among fish. A man is happiest when she's easy about "utilities."

I would rather tell a lie to cause pleasure den a truth to cause pain.

Nature favored no nigger in many ways, but I don't see why she put a kinky foot on him.

I would rather go through an ordinary spell of sickness den to be tramped up by a cat.

A man isn't so skinned in the darkness jes' afore day as he is in the darkness jes' arter night.

A animal has got more sense den sentiment. A cow would sooner tramp on a rose den a briar.

Don't judge a man by de fass he makes in flyin' de human bird makes more tuss den da hawk.

Do object what is most difficult for gain is de most prizant. De hardest nut crack has de sweetest kernel,

Many a dollar what has passed through de stained hand of fallen' man is used in spreadin' de gospel.

It generally takes a man about fifty years ter believ dat he is a fool, and de balance of his life to know dat he is.

Originally in nature ain't al'ers rated higer den imitation. De mockin' bird brings a higher price den de crow.

De preachers what is always complitementin' de dove doan remember dat he is a bad han' at pullin' up young corn.

It is mighty strange to me dat a man will stoop low to git a nigger's vote dan he will to git de vote ob a white man.

De sweetness of dis life ain't confined to de graceful way. De muley cow is monstrous ugly, but she gives powerful fine milk.

If old Jacob had rassled wid cross roads whiskey stead ob de angel, somebody would have been flung down a mighty heap sooner den day was.

Between de fear ob da debil and de joy ob redemption de ignorant nigger doan no which way to turn. However, da chickin ain't alloted da safe.

A great deal ob harm is sometimes accomplished in doin' good. Da mat' makes war on de in-ecks, but he includes de honey bee in his kill ob fare.

"Mong all livin creatures dar is a love for do seobs ob early life. De deer do loves a rich country, and go back to da sandy hill whar he was born.

De more I think bout 'oman, de more I'm convinced dat mens inighta little more incentive wid her. De greatest thinkers in de world have spent years in wralin' about 'oman, and I doan no as any of 'em has ever shed any light on the subject.

De houn nobe fights only when he haster. Any little scrub ob a dog can meat him in de road and make him take anything back, but let a whole passel ob dogs crowd him in ter de fence corner, and he'll whip de whole crowd. Dat is de way wid some men. Da man who fights th' pride would run if he didn't think dat his honor would suffer, but de man who fights cause he's skeered is powerfull bad.—Arkansas Traveler.

Plain English is here expressed! Our Free Circular tells the best Remedy for Disease. Name, June 20, 1882.

Harris Remedy Co., Louisville, Ky. I directed and they completely cured me. In about one week I was able to sleep well and I continued to use all the time until I was perfectly well. I have felt no new trouble since. I truly hope that the success will find out that you have a specific for all diseases.

Respectfully yours,
P. S.—You will be pleased to know that you may be referred to me and I will answer them.

To every young, middle age or old man who is not bothered by those two festive fellows, who put in fall twenty-four hours out of every two ty-four, —ky. R. gister.

The fly is busy from sunup to sundown, and the mosquito from sunup to sunup. Mr. John Frozen-dew, alias Jack Frost, is the only one who is not bothered by those two festive fellows, who put in fall twenty-four hours out of every two ty-four, —ky. R. gister.
